

A message from PennDOT's District Executive

Welcome to our I-376 Parkway East Corridor Transportation Network website! We are pleased to offer this resource to both inform and engage the public on this exciting project. The Parkway East and other highways in the corridor serve over 100,000 motorists each day. This network supports the eastern neighborhoods and suburbs in many ways and is a vital corridor for the Pittsburgh region.

This project will first perform a comprehensive transportation evaluation of the I-376 Parkway East corridor transportation network that will be used to develop and design strategies to improve safety and mobility on the Parkway East and the surrounding network. We are excited this process is underway and look forward to working with communities, stakeholders, and commuters to explore possible solutions to enhance safety, move people, and improve traffic flow on the network.

At this point, PennDOT isn't drawing any conclusions to the range of improvement alternatives that might be possible. Communities and commuters can get involved by taking our new survey, checking out our website frequently for updates, attending public meetings and providing feedback. We look forward to hearing your thoughts.
